

The World of Anne Frank
A Complete Resource Guide

Reproducible teacher book, 160 pp. • Grades 6-adult

Show students what a powerful difference each of them can make in the world.

Illuminate Anne Frank's compelling life story, tragic end, and unwavering faith in humanity through the activities in this best-selling guide. 8 chapters of reproducible readings – supported by vocabulary, reading comprehension, discussion, and writing activities – put Anne's life in historical context. Includes suggestions for cooperative learning and extensions and answers. Note: For an ideal companion to this book, see Understanding the Holocaust on page XX. (Betty Merti)

0-37365-XXX $22.95

Revised

Writing Frames

40 Activities for Learning the Writing Process

Grades 6-9

Give struggling students the leg-up they need to effectively communicate in writing. The cloze-style passages in these 40 high-interest activities introduce and reinforce the process of brainstorming, writing, editing and revising. Now with new and expanded frames, this flexible resource includes such topics as "Fridays," "Television," "My Life as a Professional Athlete," and "The School Fashion Scene," which involve students in language about their lives. Each of four sections provides 10 weeks of student writing practice. Teacher notes and easy-to-use student evaluations let you enhance and measure the effectiveness of the exercises. (Jean Pottle)

Student activity text, 154 pp.

0-37373-XXX

Writing with a Purpose

Grades 9-adult

Teach students how to write for results. With a section devoted to each writing type – informative, narrative, persuasive, and descriptive – this practice text leads students from composing paragraphs to assembling a basic report. Each type of writing is introduced with a description, example, and outline of the example, followed by 7 lessons on different topics and an editing exercise. Lessons such as "Evaluating a Comic Strip," "Making Mistakes," and "Mandatory Seat Belts" include background paragraphs, suggestions for topic sentences, and examples of how these sentences can be developed. The culminating activity melds work from all four sections. (Jean L. Pottle)

Student activity text, 96 pp.

0-30905-XXX

You and the Mass Media

Grade 9-adult

Elevate your students' consciousness about the media's influence on society, while they expand their skills in critical thinking and analysis, decision-making, reading, writing, and research. Revised and updated, this popular student book features 8 activity-packed chapters on media, TV, radio, film, journalism, propaganda, advertising, and censorship.

Using interactive, open-ended questions on issues from today's headlines, students are invited to join in lively debate about the mass media. Teacher notes and student assessment sections included. Correlates to NCSS standards. (August Franza)
Student activity text, 144 pp.0-3773X-XXX
SAVE 25%! 5 or more copies, each $13.95
1-4 copies, each $18.60

Langston Hughes
An Interdisciplinary Biography

Grades 7-12

Integrate the uplifting story and timeless work of Langston Hughes into any curriculum – English, language arts, music, history, geography, or social studies. 6 chapters present a loose chronology of Hughes' life, writings, and culture, explaining his role and influence during the Harlem Renaissance. Each chapter is followed by creative interdisciplinary activities that engage students in exploring the various influences on Hughes and his work. Students also expand their awareness of subjects as diverse as Black history, politics, narrative and descriptive writing, geography, and music. (Fredric Lown)
Student activity text, 96 pp.

0-32703-XXX

SAVE 25%

5 or more copies, each $7.95

1-4 copies, each $10.60